

Developing the Republic of Congo's globally strategic potash resources for the benefit of all stakeholders

African Potash is a London listed exploration and development company focussed on the identification and advancement of quality potash assets. Its flagship asset is the 702.5 sq km Lac Dinga Potash Project in the Kouilou region of the Republic of Congo, which it holds through its major 70% shareholding in La Societe des Potasses et des Mines S.A.

Lac Dinga is located in a highly prospective area, adjacent to Elemental Minerals Limited's Sintoukola licence which has a Measured and Indicated sylvinite Resource of 573Mt grading 20.92% K<sub>2</sub>O, a Proven and Probable Reserve of 151.7Mt grading 20.02% K<sub>2</sub>O and a 23 year life of mine.

With mineralisation expected to be similar to Sintoukola's, African Potash is committed to realising and maximising the value potential of Lac Dinga in the near term, and to help stimulate the local and national economy, an active exploration programme is being developed.

Advancing Lac Dinga up the value development curve will provide a significant boost in employment to the region, and African Potash are committed to engaging with the local community as Lac Dinga develops into a world class potash project.
